3 News and correspondence received

Sean made the room aware that he and his business Enosis Events were under attack from various spurious sources. Sean mentioned that every town hall and Council as well as various venues throughout the south west had been contacted and informed that the business was a scam. Sean also brought to the group's attention the Facebook page Enosis Events Scammers. Sean assured the group that these accusations were not true and that measures were being taken to mitigate the problem. Sean then put it to the members present if they had any questions or any reservations regarding him continuing as the Chairman. Nobody made any reservations, and it was agreed that Sean could continue as Chairman.

Sean Mentioned that he had an agreement with David at Sante's restaurant to hold networking meetings at his premises. A date has not yet been agreed. Judith mentioned that her networking mornings would be on a Wednesday. It was agreed that we would need to make sure that the Chambers mornings should not clash with Judith's events and that we would make sure that these are held on different dates.

5. Update on Loyalty league

Although in previous meetings it was agreed that the Chamber would adopt the loyalty league after the resignation of its Treasurer and Secretary. Reservations were made do some members not being aware of the plans. This is due to the vote being omitted from the minutes. It was suggested that since it's missed from the minutes it never happened. Even though the Wells voice produced an accurate story that said the Chamber would adopt the Loyalty league. There were reservations because Sean had gone ahead and set up the bank accounts for the loyalty league. Sean explained that it was only because no other member had made them selves available and that support was almost non-existent. Sean suggested that the committee should meet outside of membership meetings to iron out the problems.

It was agreed that the next meeting will be held on the 9th of January instead of the 2nd dues to it being to close to the holiday period.
